We purchased a car with XM radio installed and questioned whether we would continue the subscription. After a eighteen months we now only listen to the XM channels. we travel a great deal and the Traffic and weather reports are essential to our well being and safety. When we are in a strange community we do not have to continually search for a station that can provide us comparable information. This is a distraction and quite often we do not find any station broadcasting this information.

I do not see any reason for removing this service from the air.
